Kerry is originally from England where she completed an associate's degree in Medical Reception from Northumberland College of Arts.

She worked in health care in England for several years before moving to the United States in 1999.

Living first in Texas for 11 years she ultimately moved to Maine in 2010. She spent 14 years at home raising her two children and she fondly recalls doing every school run, soccer game and everything in between to raise happy healthy kids. Her son and daughter-in-law are both nurses and now live and work in Maine. Her youngest, Amy loves soccer, music and her dog, Mocha.

Kerry returned to the workforce in 2013 and joined Alliance PT in 2015. She played a crucial role in setting up the front office in those early days of the practice. She describes meeting patients, seeing them recover and get back to an active lifestyle as the favorite things about her job.

Kerry also enjoys road biking during the summer months, staying active, cooking and spending time with friends. In 2020 she moved to the Sebago Lake area and is looking forward to enjoying many years of lake life.
